

Columbus Human Rights Commission

123 Washington St., #5, Columbus, IN 47201 · humanrights@columbus.in.gov · 812-376-2532
http://www.columbus.in.gov/human-rights/art-essay-contest/

2016 J. Irwin Miller Art Contest & Benjamin M. King Essay Contest

Contest Theme: Today, many residents of Bartholomew County pride themselves in maintaining a welcoming community that is open to all and celebrates diversity. Historically, several Indiana communities, like Bartholomew County, were formed with a purposeful lack of integration. What do you think about your community?

All entries must answer this question:

Is Bartholomew County a welcoming community?

You can use examples from your own life if applicable.

SUBMISSIONS DUE FEBRUARY 15, 2016

PRIZES:

Winners in the elementary, middle, and high school divisions in both Art & Essay will receive:

- A $75 award and an award-winning book
- Complimentary Human Rights Annual Dinner tickets

Contest Rules: Bartholomew County students in grades 5–12 may submit entries. Students can submit an essay, artwork, or a multimedia entry that addresses the contest’s theme. Each entry must have an official entry form. Staple your entry form to the back of your essay or affix it to the back of your art entry.

Do not write your name on your contest submission.

Essays should not exceed 1,000 words. Art/multimedia entries have no size or type requirements.

Contest submissions will not be returned. By entering the contest, you agree that you have read the rules and understand that your submission will be kept by the Commission.

Teachers: To have your entries picked up at your school, please contact us to schedule a time for pick up. You can also drop them off at the Human Rights Commission office. For more information, see our website listed above or call our office.

ENTRY FORM

J. Irwin Miller Art Contest

Benjamin M. King Essay Contest

Student’s Name:

Student’s Address:

Parent/Guardian’s Daytime Phone:

Parent’s/Guardian’s Name:

Name of School/Organization:

Grade:

Name of Student’s Teacher: